In the course of providing our Services, we may collect, or come across such special categories of personal data, in different situations including where we ask or you provide us with any accessibility requirements or vulnerabilities we need to be aware of to deliver our Services.

3. How we Collect Personal Data

3.1. We collect personal data in a variety of ways, including:

3.1.1. Directly: We collect personal data which you directly provide to us, including when you register for an account, through the 'contact us' form on our website or when you request our assistance via email, or over the telephone.

3.1.2. Indirectly: We may collect personal data which you indirectly provide to us while interacting with us, such as when you use our website, in emails, over the telephone and in your online enquiries.

3.1.3. From third parties: We collect personal data from third parties, such as from credit reference agencies when assessing your suitability for our Services and details of your use of our website from our analytics and cookie providers and marketing providers. See the "Cookies" section below for more detail on the use of cookies.

4. End User data

4.1. Where your personal data is input into our Services, or where our Services are made available to you through a third party (e.g. Ittria), that business is the 'controller' of any personal data input into the Services (End User Data), and we act as a 'processor' to process End User Data on behalf of the controller.

4.2. The controller is responsible for complying with any regulations or laws that require providing notice, disclosure, and/or obtaining your consent prior to transferring the End User Data to us to process on their behalf, and therefore

Key Points

We collect personal data in a variety of ways, including:

Directly, when you provide us with personal data, such as through a website form, email or over the phone.

Indirectly, when you indirectly provide while interacting with us, such as on our website.

From third parties, such as credit reference agencies or using analytics and cookie providers.

We are the data controller where your personal data is input into our Services or where our Services are made available through a third party.

End User Data is not covered by this Privacy Policy. You should view the controller's privacy policy and/or contact the controller to understand their privacy practices in relation to your End User Data.

5. Purposes and Legal Bases For Processing

- 5.1. We collect and process personal data about you only where we have legal bases for doing so under applicable laws.
- 5.2. We have set out below in appendix 1, in a table format, a description of all the ways we plan to use your personal data, and which of the legal bases we rely on to do so.
- 5.3. We have also identified what our legitimate interests are where appropriate. Note that we may process your personal data for more than one lawful ground depending on the specific purpose for which we are using your data. Please reach out to us if you need further details about the specific legal ground we are relying on to process your personal data where more than one ground has been set out in the table in appendix 1 at the bottom of this document.
- 5.4. If you have consented to our use of data about you for a specific purpose, you have the right to change your mind at any time, but this will not affect any processing that has already taken place. Where we are using your data because we or a third party have a legitimate interest to do so, you have the right to object to that use though, in some cases, this may mean no longer using our services. Further information about your rights is available below.

6. Our disclosures of personal data to third parties

- 6.1. We may disclose personal data to:
 - 6.1.1. our employees, contractors and/or related entities;
 - 6.1.2. IT service providers, data storage, web-hosting and server providers such as HubSpot and Cloudways;

You can opt out of Google Analytics using the links in section 6.3.

Third parties may store, transfer or access personal data outside the United Kingdom. In this instance, we will perform those transfers using appropriate safeguards in accordance with data protection laws.

accordance with the requirements of applicable data protection laws and we will protect the transferred personal data in accordance with this Privacy Policy. This includes:

- 7.1.1. only transferring your personal data to countries that have been deemed by applicable data protection laws to provide an adequate level of protection for personal data; or
- 7.1.2. including standard contractual clauses in our agreements with third parties that are overseas.

8. Data Retention

- 8.1.1. We will only retain your personal data for as long as reasonably necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, regulatory, tax, accounting or reporting requirements. We may retain your personal data for a longer period in the event of a complaint or if we reasonably believe there is a prospect of litigation in respect to our relationship with you.
- 8.1.2. To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal, regulatory, tax, accounting or other requirements.

9. Your rights and controlling your personal data

- 9.1. Your choice: Please read this Privacy Policy carefully. If you provide personal data to us, you understand we will collect, hold, use and disclose your personal data in accordance with this Privacy Policy. You do not have to provide personal data to us, however, if you do not, it may affect our ability to provide our Services to you and your use of our Services.
- 9.2. Information from third parties: If we receive personal data about you from a third party, we will protect it as set out in this Privacy Policy. If you are a third party providing personal data about somebody else, you represent and warrant that you have such person's consent to provide the personal data to us.
- 9.3. Access, correction, processing and portability: You may request details of the personal data that we hold about you and how we process it (commonly known as a "data subject request"). You may also have a right in accordance with applicable data protection law to have your personal data rectified or deleted, to restrict our processing of that information, to object to decisions being made based on automated processing where the decision will produce a legal effect or a similarly significant effect on you, to stop unauthorised transfers of your personal data to a third party and, in some circumstances, to have personal data relating to you transferred to you or another organisation.

Key Points

We will only transfer your personal data to countries that have been by applicable data protection laws to provide an adequate level of protection of personal data.

We will only retain your personal data for as long as reasonable necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for.
